Explanations Regarding the Application for the INTERBUS Family Conformance Mark Certificate

Meant as supplement for and based on the signed application for the INTERBUS family conformance mark certificate, we confirm that

- the results for the devices provided for the product family certification and tested in the conformity test (see appendix) are expected to be the worst possible results (worst case with regard to EMC standards)
- all devices belonging to this product family that have not yet been tested, have mechanical and electrical features that guarantee that – together with the corresponding INTERBUS module – they meet the INTERBUS conformity test requirements with at least the same quality as the tested products of this product family.
- INTERBUS office will be informed about any market introduction of future devices belonging to this product family.
